

United States Holocaust Memorial Museum
and
San Diego State University
Department of Educational Technology

Present

Teaching about the Holocaust
A workshop for San Diego area classroom teachers

March 30, 2007
8:00 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.
San Diego State University

This comprehensive professional development opportunity will explore the content, methodologies, and rationales for teaching this complex history. Emphasis will be placed on "Using Technology to Teach about the Holocaust."

- Morning session will take place via a state of art teleconference with experts at the USHMM in Washington, DC.
- A hands-on afternoon session will explore the use of WebQuests and the QuestGarden authoring tool to teach about the Holocaust.
- Participants will receive:
 - curriculum materials developed by the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum,
 - a complimentary one-year museum membership, and
 - a one-year subscription to QuestGarden.
- Lunch will be provided.
- Preference will be given to teams of teachers from the same school.
- Middle and high school teachers in all academic disciplines are encouraged to apply.
- Participation is limited to 50 applicants.

To register, please visit
<http://webquest.org/workshops/holocaust07>

Questions? E-mail danmcdowell@cox.net.